PrivaMilk

The smart milk bottle with a camera, a scale, a speaker and zero respect for your privacy.

Someone finished the milk. We know who.

1 in 2 people wake up to an empty milk bottle, and nobody owns up

50%

of people worldwide are hit by a milk shortage every single morning

11:47 PM
Someone drinks the last drop and puts the empty bottle back in the fridge.

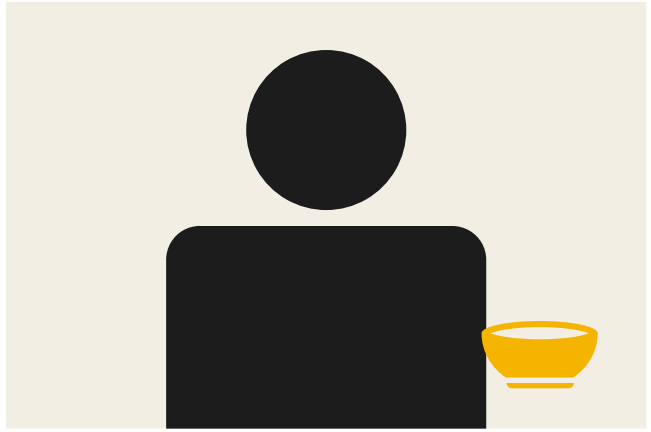

7:30 AM
You pour the cereal. You grab the bottle. It weighs nothing.

7:31 AM
Everyone at the table says “it wasn’t me.”

Our target: whoever holds a cereal bowl and says “it wasn’t me”

WANTED

FOR: finishing the milk
Last seen holding a cereal bowl

SUSPECT PROFILE

- Drinks the last drop, every single time
- Puts the empty bottle back in the fridge
- Denies everything with the spoon still in hand
- Lives under your roof: roommate, sibling, partner

“It wasn’t me.”
100% of suspects, mouth full of cereal

Five steps turn an empty bottle into a public confession

01

Weight detection

A scale in the base knows the second the bottle is empty.

02

Face recognition

A camera in the cap films whoever touches it.

03

Alarm

It screams when a near-empty bottle goes back in the fridge.

04

Public shaming

The culprit’s photo is posted online. Instantly.

05

Fine

Pay up via PayPal. No appeal.

We make money twice: €10.99 per bottle, then again on every photo

STREAM 1 · HARDWARE

€10.99

per bottle

Every bottle ships with the scale, the camera and the speaker built in.

+

STREAM 2 · IMAGE RESALE

€ ???

Per photo

We resell every photo we take. The price depends on how embarrassing it is.

Nobody gets away with it anymore.

PrivaMilk. Someone finished the milk. We know who.

Camera · Scale · Speaker · Zero privacy